CINNAMAN NEARLY KILLED BY BARBER

Midnight Battle in Hatboro Laundry Results in Much Blood Spilling—Chinaman Sent to Hospital—Barber Committed to Jail—Mystery in Motive of Attack.

Joseph Don, Hatboro's Chinese laundryman, was beaten to insensibility by Charles Stullmeyer, a German barber in the employ of Herman Schmuck, last Saturday night, a few minutes before twelve o'clock.

Stullmeyer is 23 years old, and has been in the employ of Mr. Schmuck for nearly a year. According to his own story he left the shop about half past eleven to go after his laundry and on arriving at the Chinaman's found the door closed. On knocking at the door it was opened by the Chinaman and was locked when he stepped inside. Stullmeyer claimed that the Chinaman attacked him and that he in self defense picked up a hammer and beat the Chinaman over the head and face and left the man lying on the floor and ran down the street yelling.

It was not long before his cries had attracted a number of men about the town and they with Officer Kutz went to the laundry and found the Chinaman sitting in the doorway with the blood spilling from a number of wounds in his head and face. As the man looked in a dangerous condition, Dr. Harnum was summoned and dressed the wounds and had the Chinaman taken to the Jewish hospital by F. H. McVaugh in his automobile. At the hospital the surgeons found that the Chinaman had 15 wounds, that his eyes were closed and his head and face were a mass of cuts and bruises. In the meantime Stullmeyer, who was covered with blood, and looked as if he were also seriously injured, was being examined by Dr. J. B. Carroll, who after washing the blood from the man's face found that he was practically unharmed. Officer Kutz placed him under arrest. He was taken to the Abington Police station and on Tuesday was taken to Norristown jail.

On Sunday the barber was given a hearing before Squire Hockman and claimed that the Chinaman had attacked him. It was reported that the Chinaman had said that the barber had attacked him with the motive of robbing him. Neither the Chinaman nor the barber claim to own the laundry, which is of the variety and kind that the handle sawed off short so that it could be stuck in an overcoat or outer coat pocket. Stullmeyer also claimed that Stullmeyer's hat and coat were found in the laundry along with several items of clothing which he had carried when he visited the laundry.

At the hearing the barber denied the report that he had gone to the Chinaman's with the idea of shaving him. The laundry room showed there was a bloody battle, as gore was spattered about the room and on the side. Squire Hockman held Stullmeyer for a further hearing to await the results of the Chinaman's injuries.

N. B. Walton, who rents the laundry to the Chinaman has always found him quiet and law abiding and said those who have known Stullmeyer have found him quiet and industrious, so there still remains considerable mystery yet to be cleared up.

The barber was to have gone on Sunday to New York to meet a brother, who was expected from Germany.

ROOM FOR MORE PUPILS

Upper Dublin Township Schools to be Enlarged.

At the last regular monthly meeting of the Upper Dublin school board held at Jarrettown, the advisability and feasibility of enlarging several of the township schools during the present summer vacation was discussed. The Mathias Schoolhouse, near Ambler, will very likely be finished up in the next few weeks and additional rooms provided for the rapidly growing attendance, and a room will also be provided for the regular meetings of the directors.

Watson K. Phillips, architect, was also present at the meeting in order to present his views regarding a proposed enlargement of the township school at Port Washington. The suggestion was made to place several rooms over the west end of the structure, and Mr. Phillips has since been making surveys and measurements to ascertain if the present walls will sustain the additional weight.

It is probable that the Three Tuns school will be raised to allow the lawn to be used in the summer. An enumeration of the school children will be made after May 1 by Robert H. Keyser, trustee officer.

JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY

TO hear her sing—to hear her sing—
It is to hear the birds of Spring
In verdant groves on blooming sprays
Four out their blithest roundelays.

TO hear the robin trill
At morning, or the whippoorwill
At dusk, when stars are blossoming
To hear her sing—to hear her sing!

TO hear her sing—it is to hear
The laugh of childhood ringing clear
In woody path or grassy lane
Our feet may never fare again.

TO hear it is to hear her sing
We fall in love with everything
The simple things of every day
Grow lovelier than words can say.

TO hear the bulbul's voice that shook
The throat that thrilled for Lalla Rokh:
What wonder we in homage bring
Our hearts to her—to hear her sing.

ABINGTON.

VOTERS FAVOR LOAN

Bond issue of $164,000 Decided Upon at Special Election.

The results of the special election held on Tuesday throughout Abington township gave a majority of 192 in favor of creating a new loan of $164,000. The vote by districts showed a majority in favor of the loan, in the Abington district 98; in Weldon district 52; in McKinley district 48; Saw Mill district gave an adverse majority of 6 votes.

One of the greatest points in favor of the loan was that the assessed valuations had increased from $200,000 to nearly $3,000,000 since the advent of the road work in Abington township and it is thought that the increase in the next 15 years will be as much as in the past years. A great deal of this increase in valuation is due to Abington's macadamized roads. The supporters of the loan are much elated over the result of the election as well as those living on the macadamized roads throughout the township.

P. R. T. BUYS TRACT ON OLD YORK ROAD

Nearly Forty Acres Acquired by Company for Improving Service—High Price Paid for Land.

The Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company has purchased about six blocks of ground, consisting of almost 40 acres, between Tenth street and York road, from Pike to Luzerne streets, for the purpose, it is reported, of carrying out a comprehensive plan for improving the street car service all over the northeastern section of Philadelphia.

A considerable part of the ground on the York road front was purchased from Caleb J. Milne. About 15 acres were purchased from P. J. and J. P. Whelan, the builders, who recently purchased the tract from Mr. Milne. The residue was sold by Charles E. Biddle and Harold C. Irvine, who were able to improve the tract.

The former had recently purchased both sides of Alder street from Pike to Luzerne street, and had been through James D. Winchell, an operation of 55 houses on the tract. The mortgages had been removed from the property, and was approached by a representative of the Rapid Transit Company with an offer to purchase the property for $40,000 as his price, which was promptly accepted by the company. This sum nets him a profit of close to $20,000 on the property.

The Whelan brothers are also reported to have obtained a handsome profit on the sale. They were also preparing to improve the tract. Settlement for both the tracts was made on Monday by the Land Title and Trust Company. The tract is said to have cost the company close to $200,000, and record price for ground in this section.

The purpose of the purchase has not been explained, but it is said on good authority that the company will erect several car barns on the tract and will re-route many of its lines in that section, improving materially the service out Old York road.

It is reported that the company has under consideration the erection on the tract of a ten-story building to house its general offices, now at Eighth and Dauphin streets, and that a part of the plan of improvements contemplated is to abandon the latter building.

CHURCHVILLE W. C. T. U.

Churchville W. C. T. U. convened at the home of Joseph and Margaret A.
Lowmes on April sixth with a goodly number present. Caroline Craven presided, with Joanna Hobensack recording secretary. Music and devotions were in charge of Mrs. Flora Harrison.
"Jesus Understands" was sung, with Margaret Harrison accompanist.

The president voiced several beautiful Easter thoughts and offered prayer; the 102d Psalm being read by the hostess.

Emily L. Hart read an interesting account of the origin of the crusade movement from which in 1874 the Womans' Christian Temperance Union originated and rapidly spread to all parts of the civilized world.

Mother Thompson's account of Dr.
Dio Lewis' lecture in Hillsboro, Ohio, and of the fifty women, and more than 60 men who promised to work along crusade lines was given. Just how they prayed in the cold streets in front of saloons was told by Mary J. Worthington.

The merry riddle contest, which was told by Mary J. Worthington, of total abstinence to the children, this being the best plan, as the real harm lies in the act, not the last drink. December 23 is always now observed as "crusade day."

A most interesting account of the last state convention at Warren, Pa., was read by the hostess. The synopsized five days' meetings having been compiled by Mrs. Emma Simmers Cox, of Delington.

As this was the dollar meeting the ladies who desire to raise funds for the work, each contributed her dollar and today through the method of a considered a saver of time, strength and money. Some had sold candy, biscuits, or pies; others had made and sold two cents a week, while some earned it during the daily routine.

The merry riddle contest, which Hart displayed four new bright quarters, arranged on a large tasteful heart, the same being used when purchasing her spring hat. "I'm the Child of a King" was sung and misaprop benefit repeated. The May meeting will be entertained by Jos. Long and family.

Letters of administration have been granted in the estate of Hiram Raab, late of Warminster, to Sarah N. Raab.

The Bucks County Commissioners have decided to build three new bridges, one over Deep Run, Bedminter township; another over Beaver Creek, Northampton township; and a third over Mill Creek, Buckingham township.

There are many little things to annoy us, under present conditions of life. The hurry, the hard work, noise and strain all tend to us and tend to provoke nervousness and irritability. We are frequently so worn out we can neither eat, sleep nor work with any comfort. We are often at fault with ourselves and others as well.

A good thing to do under such circumstances is to take something like
Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills

to relieve the strain on the nerves.
Mrs. J. B. Hartford, 33 Corput St., Atlanta Ga., writes:

"I have on several occasions been vexed and annoyed by the pain of headaches, especially the Anti-Pain Pills, which keep constantly on hand for the use of myself, husband and two sons. Nothing in the world equals them as a headache remedy. Often I am enabled by the use of one or two of the Pills to continue my household duties. The worst I have had, my husband joins me in my praise of the Anti-Pain Pills."

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills
are relied upon to relieve pain, nervousness and irritability in thousands of households. Of proven merit after twenty years' use, you can have no reason for being longer without them.

At all Druggists, 25 doses 25 cents.

Letters to the Editor

Richboro, April 9, 1912
Public Spirit Office,
Dear Sir:—

In your Richboro news I saw an item, J. Schlamme broke down with an auto and had to have four horses to pull it home.

Will you kindly correct this in your next issue as I was not either with an auto or in one at Richboro at that time, in fact was at Oread, Pa.

You would do me a great favor if you would not use my name in connection with any news in the future as I am opposed to this kind of notoriety.

Yours,
J. SCHLAMME.

Philadelphia, April 10, 1912
Hathoro Spirit, Hathoro, Pa.
Dear Sir:—

I have been informed that in a recent issue of your paper, you stated that Mr. and Mrs. John Craven had visited Hathoro.

I wish this statement contradicted in the next issue of your paper as I have not been in Hathoro or anywhere else with Mr. John Craven for the past six years.

I herewith enclose stamps to cover cost of the paper which I wish you would kindly mail to me as soon as published. Thanking you for your prompt attention to this matter, I am

Yours very truly,

ROAD IN BAD CONDITION.

Dresher, Pa., April 9, 1912.
To the Hathoro Spirit:—

In your valuable paper of last week I see several complaints of different roads being so much out of repair in Moreland township, but nothing is mentioned of the Moreland road from the Welsh road to Willow Grove. I feel sure there is no road in any county so utterly impassable as the Moreland road in this section of the country.

After a road has been closed for nearly one year, I should think it is time to have it fixed and oblige the traveling public.

Respectfully,
A SUFFERER.

The members of Trinity chapel will hold a spring bazaar in the basement on the 19th and 20th of April.

Hoffman's mill at Beecher and G streets was shut down a few days the past week to put in a new boiler.

Mr. and Mrs. Rich, former residents of the town, but now of Philadelphia, were visiting friends here on Sunday.

Everybody seems to be interested in the coming Marathon race, on the 27th of this month. There are some fine prizes offered.

Mrs. Newman, who lives at Franklin and Grove avenues went under an operation so utterly impassable as the Moreland road in this section of the country.

After a road has been closed for nearly one year, I should think it is time to have it fixed and oblige the traveling public.

LOCAL BARNESLEY HEIRS WIN

Supreme Court Decides That the Farm of Joseph Barnesley, Sr., Goes to the Heirs of William Barnesley.

More than ordinary interest attaches to the case of chambers, et al., vs. the Union Trust Company, of Pittsburgh, in which the Supreme Court has just reversed the decision of Judge C. C. Staples given when the case was tried in Doylestown.

Parties in the case, mostly Newtown residents are: Hanna H. B. Chambers, Elizabeth J. Connelley, William H. Barnesley, J. Herman Barnesley, H. Russell Pickering, Mary P. Spong, Lydia H. B. Hicks, William H. Barnesley, Adelia Barnesley, for themselves and the heirs of William Barnesley deceased, vs. the Union Trust Company, of Pittsburgh, guardian of George T. Barnesley.

Yerkes, Rose & Ross represented the heirs of John Barnesley and Thomas Barnesley, grandchildren of William Barnesley, and Montgomery Evans, of Montgomery county, and S. E. Christie, of Pittsburgh, were counsel for the devise of Joseph Barnesley, Jr.

Facts of the case are briefly these: Joseph Barnesley by his will devised a farm on the Street road, in Warminster township to his nephew, Joseph Barnesley and his children, if he should die without issue, then he directed it to go to the heirs of his father from whom he received it. Joseph Barnesley, Jr., died without children but left a will giving the farm to a brother.

The heirs of William Barnesley, father of Joseph, claimed that the farm went to them. The brother of Joseph, Jr., claimed that Joseph took a fee simple to the estate and had the right to will it.

Judge Staples decided that Joseph Jr. did not have the right to will the farm and that it went to the Union Trust Company, as guardian of a minor child of the brother. The heirs of John Barnesley, of Newtown, and Thomas Barnesley, of Huntingdon Valley, appealed the case and the Supreme Court reversed the decision of Judge Staples and held that the farm goes to the heirs of William Barnesley, the father of Joseph, Jr.

Joseph Barnesley, Sr., was elected a member of the Legislature during the Civil War by a close vote and presided over the Legislature when an appropriation bill was offered to equip the Pennsylvania Reserves. An attempt was made to adjourn the Legislature without action but as presiding officer he refused to entertain the motion and it resulted in the passage of the bill and the equipment of 18,000 Pennsylvania Reserves, the only organized military force fit for service after the Battle of Bull Run.

He was afterward made Collector of Internal Revenue and at that time resided in Doylestown.

He was for many years, a director of the Hathoro National Bank, and his widow resided in Hathoro several years till her death.

CITY WINS LAND DAMAGE CASE

Jury Denies Harper Claim When Shown Opening of Street Enhanced Value of Property.

After a short trial before Judge Ralston, in Philadelphia, the claim of B. Frank Harper and others against the city for damages for the alleged impairment in value of property on the Kensington and Oxford Turnpike resulted in a verdict for the city.

The Harper claim was based on the assumption that the spending of Front street from Hunting Park to the Northeast Boulevard had damaged their property to the extent of about $1,200.

Assistant City Solicitors Lewis and Peger showed that the Harper property was really benefited by the opening and widening of N. Front street and that there was no merit in the claim.

Among the many changes in Maple Glen vicinity are the following: George Kretaler from John Rex's farm to near Doylestown. Hilary Dotz, of Blue Bell, takes his place. Walter Dickinson from Harry Stott's to Cheltenham. John Harrar takes his place. Alfred Voller from Mr. Schneider's house to Spinnerstown, near Quakertown. John Craven has vacated Buckingham to Isaac Farley's house.

Life, Now, is Human Service

To deceive is to beckon for the commissioner in Bankruptcy.
Nothing goes but truth.

It is easier to accept than to investigate. It is easier to follow than to lead—usually.

Now our cry is, "Make room for individuality!"

TRUTH, says Dr. C. W. Eliot "is the new virtue."

Let the truth be known about your business.

The Adscriptors and Adcrafts look to the East. They worship the rising sun, The oleo of authority does not much interest them. They want the Cosmic Kerosene that supplies the caloric. A good Adcraftscripter is never an evil child, or pastor, or a theologian.

Let the truth be known about your business. Let the Adcraftscripter seek the good for himself, for his clients, and for the whole human race.

Now you ask for Truth.
Its a rising, though antique ???
IT'S other name, EFFICIENCY.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS.

TIMELY TOPICS OF PLANTS AND PESTS DISCUSSED WEEKLY

By H. A. Surface, State Zoologist of Pa.

ROSE SCALE.

Now is the time to examine the rose bushes for that most serious pest, the rose scale. Prof. H. A. Surface, State Zoologist of Pennsylvania, in his office at Harrisburg recently, further said that this pest could be easily detected because of its white, waxy appearance, being whiter and more conspicuous than San Jose scale. It is especially destructive to rose bushes and raspberry bushes, and can be very destructive if remedies are not applied for its destruction.

It is easily destroyed if efforts be made in the spring, before the buds burst. The dead parts of the rose or raspberry bushes should be cut out, and the other parts should be thoroughly sprayed with the boiled lime-sulfur solution, either home-made or commercial, just as for the San Jose scale. This is easily and cheaply made by boiling one pound of lime with two pounds of sulfur in one gallon of water, in any vessel excepting copper, for one hour, and then adding about six or seven times its bulk of water when one wishes to use it as a spray. If there is any difficulty in straining it, let it stand and use only the liquid that will go through the spray pump. This is the part that kills the scale. Thoroughness in application of the liquid that is strong enough is the point in eradicating this pest as well as the San Jose scale. Oyster-shell scale and other of the scale family. If the wind is blowing two or three applications should be made from different directions so as to thoroughly cover the plants from top to bottom.

The above is the formula for all kinds of dormant trees, shrubs, bushes and vines. The commercial lime-sulfur solution can be used in place of the home-made if desired.

DO NOT DILUTE LIME-SULFUR TOO MUCH.

As this is the time of year for the most extensive spraying with lime-sulfur solution, the following reply by Prof. H. A. Surface, State Zoologist, to a nurseryman in Maryland is timely and practical. The nurseryman asked if an enclosed advertisement was true, which said of a certain brand of lime-sulfur solution: "One gallon of this liquid will take fifty gallons of water for ordinary spraying." The reply was as follows:

"The brand of lime-sulfur solution of which you make inquiry is all right, if used strong enough, and like any other brand it is all wrong if not used strong enough. It is the height of folly for Mr. —, to advertise that one gallon of this liquid will take fifty gallons of water for ordinary spraying. This might do for a mild fungicide for summer spraying, but it is decidedly wrong for dormant spray, and is not an insecticide even for summer use. "This brand is no stronger than the half dozen others on the market, and it can be used about one to eight, or six to fifty. The other brands which you mention are also good, and are to be used at the strength you mention, not more dilute than one of the solution to nine of water. To be on the safe side I really prefer one to eight. "I can see where some poor fellow is going to lose not only time, labor and material, but also his trees, if they are infested with San Jose scale and he depends upon the strength of material mentioned in this advertisement. I see more and more the necessity of a person knowing his business, or getting his instruction from a reliable source, and not depending at all upon the statements made in general by advertisers. While in many cases these are true, there are others like this which are so misleading as to result in disaster.

"I take great pleasure in complying with your request to place your right upon this subject, and it is for the protection of those who are using it, as you say, I shall not object to this reply being published in the paper carrying the advertisement. I, of course, shall stand back of it, and defend it at any time necessary. To call the attention of the public to the evil results of such over-dilution of material, even of good material, I shall also publish this letter in the Pennsylvania papers."

To pay for a good road built in Bristol township that district paid to the treasurer of Bucks county $4052.65.

Pottstown school children will receive 5000 maple trees as a gift from the manager of a local mercantile establishment for planting on Arbor day.

Augustus H. Sicker and Godfrey Schmidheiser, of Philadelphia, have been appointed permanent receivers of the Doylestown and Easton Street Railway Company, by Judge Ryan, in the Bucks county courts. This company operates 22 miles of electric road between Doylestown and Easton.

SPRING IS HERE.

Get the catalogue issued by the "House of Mitchell," of Philadelphia. This is really a wonderful book, vegetables pictured so beautifully that you might imagine they are ready to eat, flowers that are as natural as if they stood before you, and with an enormous list of roses, dahlias, canna and gladioli. One can readily see that the House makes a specialty of these, but no other flower is neglected for this reason. They are all to be found here. Hundreds and hundreds of the old-fashioned hardy flowers are there in plants; all sorts of trees and shrubs as well, and lots in unlimited number, new and old to fill every want of the gardener.

In fact, no matter what you may need you will find in Mitchell's catalogue. This catalogue is free and is sent to anyone who applies for it. "Mitchell, Seedman, Philadelphia, Pa.," is all that is required to address the house.

TIME TO SET OUT BIRDHOUSES

Professor Surface Tells How to Furnish Rooms for Feathery Guests.

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 9.

In a bulletin of the bureau of economic zoology, Prof. H. A. Surface, State zoologist, declares that now is the time to put out bird boxes, and gives directions to induce birds to nest on the premises.

"Certain kinds of very interesting and desirable birds will nest in boxes prepared for them," he says. "Among these are such as the bluebirds, wrens, martins, chickadees, nuthatches, flickers, woodpeckers and some kinds of flycatchers. These are all beneficial birds and protected at all times of the year by state law, and are very interesting creatures for observation.

"The little wrens nest readily in any ordinary small box of about 6 inches or more in each of its directions. To permit the wren to enter and keep out the English sparrow, the hole should be cut near the top of the box or house. This hole should be an inch in diameter, and can easily be marked by making a mark around a 25-cent piece.

"Such a box can be attached to a post under a vine-clad porch or in any protected spot quite near the house, and the wren is pretty sure to find it and use it. For the bluebirds the hole should be 10 or 12 inches in diameter, and the hole should be 12 inches across. For all bird boxes the entrance should be toward the top rather than at the bottom. The English sparrow will appropriate these boxes with larger holes if they are permitted to do so; but if they are chased away a few times they become wary and can be kept away without difficulty.

"For bluebirds the box should be placed at an elevation of 12 or 15 feet in a more or less open region, although a shade as on the northeastern side of a tree or building is desirable.

"Martins often nest in colonies, and for this purpose a compartment with three or four nesting rooms is utilized. If these rooms are at least about 8 inches in dimension and the entrance of each always 2 inches across. Houses or boxes for the martins should be placed on a pole at an elevation of 20 or 30 feet in an open region. Warfare should be waged against the English sparrow, to keep them away from the boxes, especially during the month of May and June, when the martins are liable to be seeking satisfactory quarters for their housekeeping.

"Nesting places for woodpeckers and flickers can be provided by bringing from the woods short sections of old logs containing their holes, or even logs in which they have not made holes, but which are slightly decayed, and fastening these by wires in an upright position to the trunks or branches of trees. In such places also certain other small birds may nest. "The sooner the boxes are prepared and put in place the better will it be for the birds accepting them as their homes."

A woman will tell her neighbors that her husband is the best man in the world, but what she tells him in private is quite another story.

The reliable, capable man makes progress, and his good will becomes valuable, whereas the unreliable man is forever being compelled to go back, and make another start.

There is a new drawing every year of every drawing depends on yourself. You are not (I hope) a mere number, compelled to take whatever comes out of the box by chance.
